

Top 10 Signs You Should Call a Medical Home Care Company for an Evaluation

1. Difficulty walking, un-steady gait, poor balance.
2. Poor hygiene, not getting dressed, wearing the same clothes every day, not keeping clean
3. Diminished driving skills-“near misses”
4. Loss of appetite
5. Difficulty with medication, remembering to take it, taking the incorrect dose. Managing a new medication that has been prescribed such as a mood stabilizer, Coumadin or hypertensive medicines.
6. Mis-handled finances, un-opened bills.
7. Patients with chronic pain, mood disorders or decreased cognition and memory.
8. Loss of interest in social activities.
9. New or poorly controlled medical or mental health condition and the patient or family needs extra support or education.
10. Confusion, mis-placing objects and poor judgment.